JUST LIKE OLD FRIENDS

The Grand Tour of Switzerland is a journey of sights and discoveries. You will meet many different people along the tour, and thus enjoy the most enriching of experiences.
Gabriel Rais, dairy farmer, Le Bémont, Jura

“More and more guests are coming to our region, not only to sample the delicious Tête de Moine AOP but also to visit our forest pastures where cattle and horses graze together.”
Thomas Wieland, organic farmer, Bern

“I like the atmosphere in Bern. The city never feels hectic.”
Reto Jäger, city guide, Bremgarten, Aargau

“Many visitors come to Bremgarten without any great expectations – and are then utterly amazed at what the historic old town has to offer: towers, dungeons, moats and the most beautiful church district for miles around.”
Gustav, musician, Schwarzsee, Fribourg
“The bilingualism of this region is what makes Fribourg so charming.”
Zurich–St. Gallen: 152 km

A guest of Frau Gerold’s

Small shops, fresh cooking, lively events, art – Frau Gerold’s Garten in the trendy “Züri West” district is an oasis of urban green and a wonderful place to meet people.
Zurich honey from a hotel rooftop

Zurich’s Marriott Hotel accommodates almost one million extra guests – on its rooftop. These special guests are bees, living in 26 hives and cared for by beekeeper Peter Schneider. “City honey has more of a complex flavour and features more taste nuances than honey from the countryside, where bees often obtain nectar from monocultures”, says the beekeeper, who also produces the honey for the Marriott Hotel.

Hiiltl

If you find yourself delighted by limitless choice and the heavenly scents of curry, turmeric and masala, then you are probably standing in front of the Hiiltl buffet in Zurich. With more than 100 home-made specialities and freshly squeezed juices, Hiiltl – opened in 1898 by Ambrosius Hiiltl – was the world’s very first vegetarian restaurant, and today remains as popular as ever.

Zurich West

Once an industrial neighbourhood, today the centre of colourful urban life. Among the highlights in “Züri West” are the Prime Tower, the Toni-Areal, Frau Gerold’s Garten and the FREITAG Tower, which is made up of 19 stacked containers.

5 specialities on the Grand Tour

2 Bratwurst
St. Gallen locals have always enjoyed their delicious bratwurst plain, with no mustard at all.

3 Capuns
A traditional Graubünden dumpling wrapped in chard leaf.

4 Minestrone
This vegetable soup from Ticino, available in countless varieties, always hits the spot.

5 Vaudois sausages
These smoked sausages, both cooked and raw, have been relished in the Canton of Vaud since medieval times.
From an alcohol depot to a museum for top-of-the-line automobiles

The “Autobau Erlebniswelt” (car construction theme park) in Romanshorn is just the place for automobile fans to get their adrenaline rushing while contemplating cars from the world of racing, such as lightning-fast Sauber Formula One models and luxury sports cars like Lamborghini and Ferraris.

Karola Lüthi, Munot guard in Schaffhausen The first female guard in the 400-year history of the town fortress lets the Munot bell ring for five minutes every night at 9 p.m. She and her husband also organise festivities in the Munot, care for a colony of deer and offer guided tours to guests who have just admired the Rhine Falls.

View of Lake Constance

Fascinating stories about transport history in the Lake Constance region are told in the walk-in container of discovery on the harbour promenade in Romanshorn. Its highlight is the illuminated three-dimensional light fixture, complete with peepholes to the past, and stair access to the container’s roof where visitors can enjoy a genuine 360° view of its surroundings. Visitors can leave their mark by scribbling messages in chalk on a blackboard.
A mountain station designed by star architects

The cable car ride up the Chäserrugg ends at a building designed by the architects Herzog & de Meuron. The building also includes a restaurant, making it the perfect place for a nice long break. But first of all, be sure to take in the lovely view from the 2,262-metre-high mountain top.
Craftsmanship abounds in the Lipp Winery

Each of the 1,300 bottles of Intuiva Pinot Noir from the Lipp Winery is unique. For Carina Lipp-Kunz marks every label with words of wisdom. By hand, in ink. The Grand Tour passes right through her grapevines in the heart of the “Bündner Herrschaft”.

Tamina Thermal Wellness Spa, Bad Ragaz

Need time to disconnect and recharge your batteries? At the “Tamina Therme” in Bad Ragaz, Europe’s largest thermal water spa, relaxation is guaranteed. Enjoy water temperatures of 36.5°C (98°F) as you alternate between waterfalls, bubble loungers and massage jets.

Landquart Fashion Outlet

Graubünden is not only worth visiting on account of the hikes it offers through glorious landscapes – visitors can also enjoy breathtaking mountain views as they amble through the cozy Landquart Fashion Outlet village. And they can do so while browsing the articles offered by more than 160 international brands at luxuriously attractive prices.
2 Explore the National Park with a guide
For animal lovers, Val Trupchun is heaven on earth. It is the playground of elks, chamois, ibexes and marmots. Naturally, our guides know all the best spots for watching the wildlife. Tip: before setting off on the tour of the park, have a look around the visitor centre in Zernez.

Brauquöll Appenzell brewery visitor centre
Discover the authentic art of brewing at the Brauquöll brewery visitor centre in Appenzell and learn how Appenzeller Bier and Säntis malt whisky are made from fresh spring water.

Viamala – from obstacle to natural monument

This wild gorge, with its 300-metre-high rock faces, was once an obstacle on the journey through the Alps. Thus the name “Viamala”, which means “bad path” in Latin. Today you can take its 359 steps all the way to the bottom.
Welcome to history During the Middle Ages, the Bellinzona forts formed a bulwark against intruders from the north. Today UNESCO World Heritage Property, their sky-high towers and crenelated walls welcome all who visit them.

For world-record jumpers
James Bond's leap from the 220-metre-high Verzasca dam wall in the film “Golden Eye” is legendary. And recommended only for those who are brave at heart: this free fall from the world's highest fixed bungee jump station lasts 7.5 seconds – and is sure to get your adrenaline flowing.

UNESCO World Heritage Sites

1. La Chaux-de-Fonds/Le Locle
   The industrial past is still very present in Neuchâtel's watchmaking towns.

2. St. Gallen abbey district
   The abbey was once a prominent centre of culture in the Western world.

3. Monte San Giorgio
   The 1,097 m mountain is deemed to be the most important fossil site from the Mid Triassic Period.

4. Old Town of Bern
   The Swiss capital's historic centre boasts buildings that date back several centuries.
With the Kings of the Air in Locarno

Eagles, vultures and falcons circle above the heads of visitors while the falconer tells the story of his ancient art. Pio Nesa from Locarno Falconry: “Not only do we train the birds of prey, but we also breed and take care of them.”

Nice rice

The Terreni alla Maggia is the northernmost plot of land to grow rice in Europe. It produces Riso Nostrano Ticinese, the perfect rice for a creamy risotto. Enjoy this rice prepared in a variety of delicious ways by chef Mattias Roock at the Hotel Castello del Sole in Ascona.

Sant’Abbondio: a church with a view

The origins of the Sant’Abbondio wedding church near Montagnola can be traced back to the year 1372. Enjoy the distinctly Tuscan feel of the cypress-lined trail to the cemetery, where the writer Hermann Hesse was laid to rest.
A charming village on a dreamlike route

The former fishing village of Morcote on Lake Lugano was voted Switzerland’s most beautiful village of 2016 by one Swiss magazine. So be sure to stop, get out and enjoy.

"The sun shines more deeply here, the mountains are redder, chestnuts, wine, almonds and figs grow wild and the people are good, civilised and friendly."

Hermann Hesse

Hello, my name is Ticinosuchus

Just after passing through the glass door of the Museo dei Fossili (Fossil Museum) in Meride, you will be welcomed by this "mini-T-Rex". While there, marvel not only at the dinosaurs and fossils, but also at the building designed by star architect Mario Botta.
Chiasso/Lugano – Zermatt: 264 km

THRILLING BENDS
The Tremola 4 will even have expert riders sweating

The Tremola is one of the most daunting of all mountain pass roads, and for motorcyclists, also one of the most dangerous. Built in the early 19th century and redone with hundreds of thousands of granite blocks between 1937 and 1941, this unsurfaced road starts in Airolo and climbs countless winding bends to reach the top of the 2,106-metre-high Gotthard Pass. This one-time marvel of road building design, with its bumpy surface and narrow curves, will speed up the heart rate of any rider who dares to tackle it. In wet weather, however, two-wheelers are advised to proceed with extreme caution. No wonder Harley riders enjoy the sausages at the top of the pass with a smile – and slightly shaky hands.

Alpine passes on the Grand Tour

1  Flüela
The Flüela mountain pass road ranks number 4 on the Avis list of the “world’s best roads”.

2  Julier
On the Julier Pass, you will cruise by rugged rock faces and picturesque lakes on your way to Tiefencastel.

3  San Bernardino
This pass marks the border between Italian- and German-speaking Switzerland.

5  Furka
The Furka Pass, at 2,429 metres above sea level, is the highest point on the Grand Tour.

Manoeuvring heavy machines around winding mountain pass roads is not only fun, but also makes you hungry.
Vinotherapy for lunch

At the Valais stage of the Grand Tour, it’s worthwhile stopping off at the Mathieu bakery in Susten. Here you can get your Snack-Box (see page 19) filled with some veritable specialities made of grape seeds. In contrast to what’s done in most winegrowing areas, the seeds are not discarded after pressing, but processed into oil, bread, croissants and crunchy bars. They don’t just taste good; they’re also really healthy thanks to their high-quality antioxidant content.

The Mathieu family has been awarded a gold medal for its grape-seed bread.

Lengenbachite or wallisite?

The Binn valley is famous for its wide variety of minerals. More than a dozen minerals have been discovered here alone. They bear names from the region, such as “lengenbachite” and “wallisite”. Local excursions allow visitors to see why the Binn valley is a paradise for stone lovers. Rarely does a guest return home without at least one little gem.

Valais speciality: views

Marco Imwinkelried runs the Horli Hitta on the Eggishorn according to the motto “less is more”. Guests forego all the bells and whistles for a genuinely cosy hut-style atmosphere and scrumptious Valais specialities like fondue, melted cheese on bread or a dried meat platter with a little glass of Fendant (as Chasselas is called in these parts). Incidentally, the magnificent panoramic view of the glaciers and 4,000 metre peaks is always included.

With a length of 23 kilometres, the Aletsch Glacier is the longest glacier in the Alps. It weighs 27 billion tons, or as much as 72.5 million jumbo jets put together.

WORTH A DETOUR

Matterhorn: 4,478 metres above sea level
The Matterhorn near Zermatt is said to be the most-photographed mountain in the world. Each morning, the sunrise over the summit provides for a magnificent light show. Whether you prefer the Riffelsee, Gornergrat or the centre of the village – the best spot for taking pictures is an entirely personal choice.
In 1976, Léonard Gianadda just wanted to build a house...

...but stumbling upon the remains of Switzerland’s oldest Gallo-Roman temple. Today, the site is home to the Fondation Gianadda Martigny cultural centre, which showcases archaeological findings as well as art, concerts and 50 vintage cars.

Niki de Saint-Phalle’s “Les Baigneurs” is just one of the many sculptures in the vast Gianadda Foundation park.

Almost too beautiful to be true

Fairytale vineyards and picturesque winegrowing villages, coupled with glittering Lake Geneva and the Alpine peaks on the horizon. The terraces of the Lavaux winegrowing area, a UNESCO World Heritage site since 2007, are a feast for the eyes.

Lausanne’s industrial district Flon has evolved into an avant-garde neighbourhood that is vibrant both day and night.

I love the Flon district. What was once an industrial area is now a meeting place full of cool bars, restaurants, galleries, cinemas and trendy boutiques.

Full steam ahead!

The Celts called Lake Geneva “Lem an”, or “large water”. Justifiably so, for Lac Léman holds two records: Central Europe’s largest inland lake, and its lake with the most water. Those interested in witnessing the full splendour of this body of water can board one of the eight impressive Belle Époque steamboats which have been running between France and Switzerland and between Geneva and the Upper Lake for 130 years. Incidentally, the Lake Geneva General Navigation Company (CGN) holds another record: its paddle steamer fleet carries more passengers than any other fleet in Europe.
In search of the green fairy

For many people, it provided the thrill of a lifetime. “The green fairy”, as absinthe has come to be called, was prohibited in Switzerland between 1910 and 2005 for health reasons. But that rarely kept people from making it. Indulge all your senses on the “Absinthe Trail” in Neuchâtel’s Val de Travers by getting up close and personal with the history of this mythical spirit at distilleries such as this one run by the Martin family.

Open arena

Beholding the rocky Creux du Van arena on the border of the Vaud and Neuchâtel cantons for the first time is something not easily forgotten: vertical, 160-metre-high rock faces surround a basin four kilometres long by over one kilometre wide. With a little patience and luck, you will also spot some of the chamois, ibexes and lynxes which populate this pristine natural landscape.
In Basel, art not only abounds in museums, but also in the street. Events, exhibitions and workshops by the “Urbane Kunst” (“Urban Art”) Association prove that street art is much more than just messy scribblings and graffiti on walls.
museums on the Grand Tour

1. Technorama, Winterthur
The Swiss Science Center is an exciting museum for hands-on experimentation.

2. Hermann Hesse Museum, Montagnola
This museum is dedicated to the 43 years the writer spent in Southern Switzerland beginning in 1919.

3. Sasso San Gottardo
Once a secret fortress, today an exhibition on energy and mobility.

4. La Maison du Gruyère
Discover all the secrets of Gruyère AOP cheese.

5. Monet by the lily pond
Monet’s world-famous water lilies, works of Picasso and attractive temporary exhibitions: it’s no wonder that the Fondation Beyeler is regarded as one of Switzerland’s most beautiful and most popular art galleries.

Feel good in Basel
A cocktail in one hand and all of Basel at your feet. This one-of-a-kind feeling can only be experienced at Bar Rouge, at the top of the 105-metre-high Messeturm (Basel Trade Fair Tower). Even a trip to the toilet is an adventure for those who aren’t afraid of heights.

Splash your way to fun
When it gets too hot for Basel residents, they simply jump into the Rhine for a nice good soak. But never without a “Wickelfisch”, the swimming bag created by designer Tilo Ahmels.
Doubs trout
It goes without saying that the fish speciality from the Jura tastes best when savoured right by the river that bears its name on the French/Swiss border. In the Auberge du Theusseret in Goumois, for example.

Lively hermitage
Legend has it St-Ursanne was founded by the Irish monk Ursicinus, who withdrew to this isolated spot of land to live as a hermit. Although several hundred people live here today, the town on the banks of the Doubs has remained a place of rest and relaxation.

At the heart of the watch industry
La Chaux-de-Fonds, the birthplace of the architect Le Corbusier, was the worldwide capital of the watch industry for more than 100 years. As a result, it is home to the International Museum of Horology, which features 2,700 watches and 700 clocks.

Visit to the pile-dwellers

Life is good by Lake Neuchâtel. The pile-dwellers already knew this. You can see one of the most extensive and comprehensive collections of that time at the Laténium, Switzerland’s most important archaeological museum.
La Maison du Gruyère

From cow to cheese. In the impressive village dairy, visitors learn interesting facts about cheesemaking and watch the commercial production of Le Gruyère AOP. The interactive exhibition “Gruyère AOP, a journey to the heart of the senses” appeals to all five senses and takes visitors on the journey of a drop of milk. You are invited to continue your experience in the restaurant and the market and sample the different cheeses.

Ave Aventicum!

Aventicum was the Helvetic capital of the Roman Empire 2,000 years ago. The picturesque town is now known as Avenches and proudly displays the remnants of these times, such as the famous amphitheatre with room for 16,000 spectators.

Power: wastewater

People have been taking the so-called “Funi” to get from uptown Fribourg to the lower part of the city and back since 1899. The funicular is Switzerland’s last water-powered railway. That means there is no motor, but that these cable cars are powered by wastewater from upper Fribourg.
Girl power at the helm

Visitors on a day trip to the town of Murten will enjoy the chance stroll through the picturesque alleys of the old town, past historic architectural gems. Then put up your feet and enjoy a boat trip with Captain Corinne Stauffer on Lake Murten.

Once per year, a stair climbing competition is held on the stairs next to the Niesenbahn, whose 11,674 steps make it the largest staircase in the world.

Luxurious simplicity

Upmarket boutiques line up right next to down-to-earth chalets in the village of Gstaad in the Bernese Oberland. Many international stars have property here, enjoying the privacy and pristine natural surroundings.
Top of Europe

At 3,454 metres above sea level, the Jungfraujoch is Europe’s highest train station. But that’s not all there is to see in this region: local guides from Free Walking Tours in Interlaken will show you all the interesting sights while narrating their history.

To the summits!

By far the most remarkable way to experience the famous Bernese Oberland panorama is by starting at Unterseen and following the banks of Lake Thun, taking in the view of the Niesen towards Oberhofen, where a magnificent beach promises to cool you down after your hike.

Dream route

Of dragons and monks

The mystical St. Beatus Caves, high above Lake Thun, are an ideal base for trips in the Interlaken region. A fearsome dragon is said to have once lived in the vast caves 1,900 years ago before being driven away by the wandering Irish monk Beatus.

From Wednesday to Sunday, when the shops in Lucerne's Bruch district close for the evening, the La Madeleine bar really comes to life. This bar is the ideal place to meet up for a drink, concert or reading.
From cattle market to hip neighbourhood

Calves, cows and sheep in the middle of residential buildings and businesses? Until 1971, this was an everyday occurrence in Lucerne’s Bruch district 5. The cantonal cattle market was held here every week for nearly 60 years. Today there are no traces at all of this market. Quite the contrary. Wonderful coffee aromas drift from the Hässig Brothers’ Coffee House, the warmly decorated CrazyCupCake Café entices with its colourful little cakes, and local boutiques such as Atelier Treger send visitors into genuine shopping frenzies.

Unwind in the city’s popular cultural venues, which put on a variety of comedy shows and concerts.

Breathing new life into the Bruch district: a perfect espresso recipe by Marc and Kurt Hässig and the original braces from Anna de Weerdt’s Atelier Treger.

The former Geneva bath district is now a hotspot for art and culture.

3 Kleinbasel

Zurich, city of water

With six lakes and five river pools within its city limits, Zurich enjoys a very special relationship to water. And in summer, there's no shortage of things to do – both in and on the water: Zurich's lakes are perfect for sailing, stand-up paddleboarding and pedalos. And if you get thirsty, you can enjoy a drink from one of the city's 1,200 water fountains or a bottle of “Lokales Wasser 37”, natural spring water from the Uetliberg.

Assembled by hand: the one and only Swiss Army knife

Millions of people all over the world have one in their pockets. In the Swiss Knife Valley Visitor Center in Brunnen, you will learn all there is to know about this pocket knife, and can even put one together yourself.

Black beauty

Pilgrims have been flocking to the Benedictine Monastery for more than a thousand years. Today it is also an attraction for many culture enthusiasts, who come to marvel at the 15th-century Black Madonna in the Chapel of Grace.

A museum that blossoms and sprouts

The Enzo Enea Tree Museum uses the tree as a space-defining object while giving due respect to its beauty and purpose. Rapperswil-Jona boasts over 3,000 shrubs by the famous Swiss landscape architect and tree collector for your viewing pleasure.

A thirst quencher that makes a difference: all “Lokales Wasser 37” profits go to development projects.
